WEEKS DOESN'T LIKE IDEA OF THE NAVY JOB

He Asks For Treasury Portfolio But May Get War Post Finally As a Compromise

FORDNEY AT MARION

He Talks Tariff Tinkering While Odell, Former N. Y. Boss, Sees Harding About Patronage

MARION, Jan. 15.—When the name plates are changed on the eleven chairs about the cabinet table at the white house next March it is predicted that the name of John W. Weeks of Massachusetts will be engraved on one of them. Which department will claim him may be decided as a result of his conference today with Senator Harding.

Senator Weeks himself, according to his intimates, would prefer the treasury portfolio. Senator Harding and some of the Republican leaders are said to desire that he take over the direction of the navy. A compromise may seat him in the chair of the secretary of war.

Senator Weeks' objection to the navy post, it is said is based on the fact that he was educated at Annapolis and is the classmate and intimate friend of many of the higher officers of the navy who would be under his direction.

Congressman Joseph W. Fordney, chairman of the ways and means committee of the house discussed with the next president among other things the tariff legislation which will be considered at the special session of congress.

Tariff schedules are his specialty and he is popularly believed to be able to give off hand the duties on any article between acorns and zithers.

He is counted to help frame the schedules which will make effective Senator Harding's plans for revision of the tariff upwards.

Former Governor B. B. Odell, of New York held an extended conference with Senator Harding and is believed to have touched on political organization and cabinet makeup.

Among other visitors today were John W. Weaver of Huntington, Ind., Myer Bloomfield, publisher, of Boston and Sidney Spitzer of Toledo. The problems and condition of colored citizens of America were outlined by Joseph W. Johnson of New York, secretary of the national association for the advancement of colored people.

Senator Harding it may be stated on the highest authority is doing far more worrying over the postmen than over postmasters. He can get plenty of postmasters, as his correspondence and his visitors make plain. It is estimated conservatively that there are ten applicants for every postmaster's job.

GIRLS' TEAM GOES TO DOVER TODAY

The girls' varsity basketball team left Saturday noon for Dover where they are scheduled to play the girls' high school team at that place this evening. Coach Vitus Mulvey has the girls in excellent training for this contest.

Tonight's game will be the second game of the season for the Coshocton girls.

The initial game of the season was played at Warsaw some time ago and the Central high girls were victorious, winning by the score of 25 to 11.

The Central high girls in basketball last season had a better average than the boys' basketball outfit.

The lineup for tonight's game at Dover is as follows: D. Denzer, r. t.; H. Brode, f.; L. Denzer, c.; V.ingham, g.; E. Lower, lg.

PYTHIAN SISTERS ENJOY PROGRAM AT NEWCOMERS

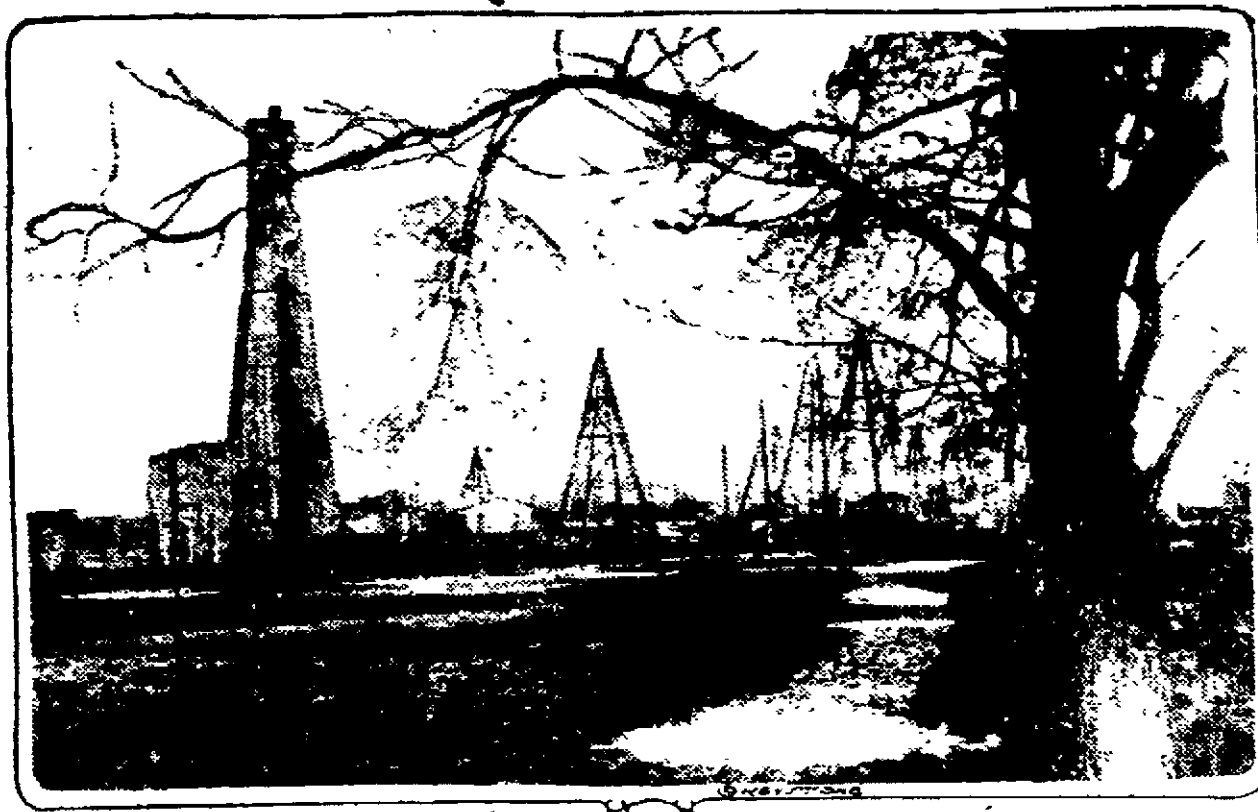

Thirty-eight local Pythian Sisters were represented among the 15 districts of Pythian Sisters at the district conference held at Newcomerstown Friday night. A program arranged by the local talent of Newcomerstown including a playlet, reading and various musical numbers, was pleasing to the visitors.

A number of Newcomerstown candidates were taken in last night by the Pythian Sisters there.

The Coshocton organization members arrived home on the midnight train Friday night.

DISCOVERY OF GREAT OIL FIELD IN GERMANY IS REPORTED

Oil riggings in the new Meckelfeld oil field.

Oil veins in communication with the rock oil gas wells of Neuen-gammar, Germany, have been discovered in Meckelfeld and its vicinity, according to reports.

Richard Wisbar of Harburg discovered the new oil field through the presence of alkaline salt on the bank.

BUILDING TRADES TO DISCUSS SCALE MONDAY, JAN. 24

A meeting of all local building crafts unions will be held at Central Trades & Labor Council hall Monday evening, January 24 for the purpose of discussing wage scales to prevail during the coming building season.

The plumbers, carpenters, electricians, plasterers and brickmasons are included among the crafts to be represented.

A definite movement toward the revision downward of the scale of wages was under way within the ranks of the skilled workmen in these building crafts Saturday.

The men behind the movement argued that a reduction is bound to come, and that efforts to hold it off would only interfere with the resumption of building to the extent of delaying the program. It is the desire of the workmen to agree upon the amount of the revision and then present the new scale voluntarily.

COMMUNITY CLUB AT POWELL SCHOOL ENJOYS A PROGRAM

The community club at Powell school, near Orange, had its regular meeting Wednesday evening, January 12, with an average attendance, and a good time.

Among others on the program, Prof. Halterman, from the West Lafayette high school department of agriculture with some of his students put on a demonstration of splicing a rope, tying knots and testing soil for acidity by the Tmorg soil method.

Harry Hothorn spoke on the work of the normal school in the community and the department of vocational agriculture at a community organization, and as a preparation for farm life.

Frank Powell had charge of the meeting, and talked on community affairs.

Miss Viola Hiser had charge of the program.

GOV. DAVIS IS SICK OF OFFICE SEEKERS

COLUMBUS, Jan. 15.—Persons seeking office either for themselves or for friends can see Gov. Davis only between 2 and 4 p. m. beginning Monday. This announcement was made by Floyd Waite Secretary to the Gov.

Every day since inauguration the Gov. has besieged from early morning till late at night by office seekers. Explanation was made that Gov. Davis wants to devote as much time as possible to proposed legislation and to plans to reorganize the state departments.

He intends to make appointments during forenoons with member of the legislature.

ELI HULL VETERAN NEWARK RESIDENT IS KILLED IN FALL

NEWARK, Jan. 15.—Eli Hull, 92, pioneer business man of this city, tripped on the top step of the upper floor of his home last night and plunged headfirst to the floor below, dying an hour later in city hospital.

He leaves a widow and one daughter, Mrs. W. W. Wehrle whose husband is head of the Wehrle store works here, are on a pleasure trip to the Philippines and Japan. A number of years ago Hull conceived a plan whereby oil and gasoline could be extracted from bituminous coal but when his project was perfected it was discovered in the ground in Penna. and the invention was useless. He discovered coal in the Shawnee fields and commenced its development.

The hour for the services had not been fixed Saturday, pending the arrival of the sons from the east.

FRENCH CABINET STILL UNFORMED

PARIS, Jan. 15.—Raoul Peret, president of the chamber of deputies announced to president Millerand at noon today that he had failed in his efforts to form a cabinet to succeed the Leygues ministry which resigned Thursday following an adverse vote in the chamber of deputies.

Add Peret Paris.—M. Peret began his efforts to form a new ministry Friday morning but met with numerous obstacles on account of excited state of political feeling in France at this time.

During the morning he held a final series of conferences with leaders of the senate on their views on their general policy. It was after this meeting that he said he had failed to find sufficient men of reconciled opinion to make a new cabinet.

It was reported that if M. Peret failed in his efforts, France probably would ask a postponement of the conference of allied premiers which is scheduled to open here on Wednesday.

Is Improving Mrs. E. A. Almack, Clowville, who has been confined to her home for the past two weeks suffering from a complication of diseases, was reported to be slowly improving, Saturday.

DEATH CLAIMS WELL KNOWN RESIDENT AT HOME HERE SATURDAY

John M. Adams, aged 75, died at his home at 531 Chestnut-st. Saturday morning at 7 o'clock following a two weeks' illness from heart trouble and asthma.

For the past 42 years Mr. Adams has lived in Coshocton and engaged in stock buying, principally horses. He enjoyed one of the widest acquaintances throughout the county, his work necessitating an intimate association with men of every community.

He was born in Keene-tp January 1, 1845 and lived there until three years after his marriage, November 25, 1875, to Miss Grace Johnston, of White Eyes-tp, the widow, who survives. For more than forty years the home has been at 531 Chestnut-st. Previous to moving to Coshocton Mr. Adams was a farmer.

At the outbreak of the Civil War Mr. Adams enlisted with the "One Hundred Days men" and was honorably discharged. He had not affiliated with the local post, G. A. R. He was a member of the Coshocton Presbyterian church and was possessed of attributes which made his friends more loyal and admiring as they knew him better. As age grew upon him the sterling qualities of his character were reflected in his desire for and enjoyment of the association of little children, who loved him for his kindly solicitation.

Two sons, W. R. Adams, of Pittsburgh and J. J. Adams, of Montclair, N. J. and one daughter, Mrs. Edward Sivanson, 323 Mulberry-st., Coshocton, survive. There are four grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at the late home, probably Monday, in charge of the Rev. Joseph A. Speer, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. Burial will be made in Oak Ridge cemetery.

The hour for the services had not been fixed Saturday, pending the arrival of the sons from the east.

Clara Smith Hamon Regrets the Circumstances That Robbed Her of Home, Husband and Babies—Calls Herself a Fool In Interview With Woman Reporter—Wants Only to Be Let Alone That She May Forget Life and Death of Oil King She Shot

By MILDRED MORRIS International News Service Staff Correspondent

Copyright, 1921, by the I. N. S. ARDMORE, Okla., Jan. 15.—In an exclusive interview today the first given since her return from Mexico Clara Smith Hamon bade girls to take a moral lesson from her life. The young woman who will soon face a jury charged with the murder of Jake Hamon, Oklahoma oil king and Republican national committeeman, said with emotion:

"If I had my life to live over again, I would marry young and settle down in a little home with husband and babies. A girl is a fool who is dazzled by the glamor of good times and money. If she defies the rules of society she must pay the price, and it is a cruel price, as I can testify from bitter experience.

"To defy the moral laws laid down by society is like butting one's head against a stone wall. It brings nothing but sorrow. There are many thorns in a life of roses and the girl who is wise will choose the life, commonplace as it may be, that gives her protection of a home and a man who loves and respects her."

Then she added pathetically: "My only sin was to love. As to most women, love to me was everything. The love I felt was like a consuming fire. It moved me like an irresistible force; it made me endure things that brot revolutions and yet it grew stronger with the years."

"It was love I tell you," she said passionately. "Such a love cannot be explained nor can you explain it yourself when you feel such love. The average woman perhaps does not understand; the average woman falls in love when she is young and marries the man; she can't understand this, love that made me a helpless pawn in the game of life.

"Let no one envy me the life I led—it was not the life I had dreamed. Other women have many interests. All my interests were bound up in the man I loved—and now—well now I am paying the price."

"And all I want now," she continued "is to forget, to be let alone. I want to be able to appear in public again without people looking at me as if I were some strange and horrible animal. I want to get away from the newspaper notoriety. I want peace. I have not had it in 10 years, and now I yearn for it. I want to begin life anew and do something worth while. I can't believe it is too late. I know it isn't. I am young yet and perhaps I can fulfill the dreams I once had."

"She would not discuss her case, nor the man whose murder she is charged with, but made clear she has no desire for vengeance.

"I don't want others to suffer. I have no desire to defame anyone," she said. "All I want now is to be free, to forget this terrible thing, and all I ask is to be let alone. I have been pictured as a woman who wanted money. I am not concerned about any will, I am not thinking about money. My only concern now is my freedom and future."

As she talked, the accused woman sat in the cozy living room of her sister's home in Wilson, an oil settlement near Ardmore. She presented an attractive, appealing figure in her simple, black frock. She was simply dressed. Her face showed the strain which she has undergone.

There was nothing to suggest the light-hearted, gay creature she has been pictured. One is immediately impressed with her poise. If character, indexed her, you would catalog her in your mind as spiritual. After talking to her, it is difficult to believe the stories in Ardmore of how she helped Jake Hamon.

It is said that the shrewd advice given by this girl was large responsible for the millions and power attained by the oil king.

In Ardmore they believe in Clara Smith Hamon. They believe she has the character to "do something worth while." No one doubts her sincerity when she says she is done with the kind of life which "leads only to sorrow."

Public sympathy is for her because those who know her story feel she has "paid the price."

REPORTED ATTEMPT UPON LENINE'S LIFE UNCONFIRMED TODAY

London Paper Carries a Story of Bomb Throwing in Moscow Streets

LONDON, Jan. 15.—Officials were without confirmation today of a sensational story that a bomb had been thrown at Moscow to assassinate Nicolai Lenin, the Soviet premier.

An attempt was made to kill Lenin with a bomb while he was driving from the Kremlin to the eighth street congress which was under way in a theatre at Moscow. A bomb was thrown from the top of an unoccupied house. It missed Lenin's auto and fell in front of the car of his body guards, killing six of them. Three spectators also were killed. The perpetrators escaped.

COSHOCTON PASTOR TO HOLD MEETINGS IN CAPITAL CITY

The Rev. W. M. Hart, pastor of the Coshocton Baptist church, left Saturday for Columbus where he will conduct evangelistic services for two weeks at the Tabernacle Baptist church at Columbus. The Rev. T. F. Sowers is pastor of the Columbus church. The meetings begin Monday.

During the absence of the Coshocton pastor the local pulpit will be filled by supplies. The Rev. A. K. McCall, of Columbus, will preach Sunday morning and evening.

According to a Columbus paper, which carried a cut of the Rev. Mr. Hart Saturday, a feature of the meetings at the Columbus church will be an orchestra from the state school for the blind under the leadership of W. C. Hurt, and vocal numbers each evening by Harry Fagan, Walter Sloop, and others from the school. Wednesday evening the boys' choir from the St. Andrews Episcopal church will sing.

DOUBLE FUNERAL FOR SOLDIERS AT CAMBRIDGE SUN.

The Legionnaires of Ralph Courtright Post No. 65 will conduct the military funeral services for John Scott, a soldier, whose body arrived in Cambridge Friday. A double military funeral for Sergeant I. H. Wagstaff and John Scott, both veterans of the World War, will be held in Cambridge Sunday afternoon in charge of the Coshocton American Legion assisted by the Cambridge Legion post.

The local legion men are to leave Sunday morning on the east bound Pennsy train No. 144, that leaves Coshocton at 5:52 o'clock.

All legion men of Coshocton-co are requested to take part in this double military funeral Sunday. The transportation is free.

Dr. W. H. Keenan will have charge of the military funeral.

MANY PROBLEMS ARE LEGACY OF PREST. HARDING

Appropriation Measures to Occupy Attention of Congress Till March 4

OTHERS GOING OVER

Night Sessions Loom As Necessities During Last Days of February

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—President-elect Warren G. Harding's first task and only request of the present congress that it leave his administration executive slate clear on March 4 seems in a fair way to be disregarded.

When Senator Harding paid his hurried visit to Washington after his Panama trip, he impressed upon his colleagues at the capitol the need for swift action in clearing the table for a new deal in March.

He did not want any "hang overs" to embarrass the new regime when it comes into being.

But with only forty legislative days of the present session left, it became increasingly apparent today that the expiring session will do little but pass the thirteen large appropriation measures, the first of which received consideration today in the senate. These measures are of the "must" variety. They must be passed if the government is to continue to function.

As for the others—and their number is legion—they appear certain of going over. Among them are some important measures, such as the emergency tariff measure, the soldier bonus bill, Senator Calder's bill for national regulation of the coal industry, the proposed immigration restriction legislation, various measures of importance to particular industries, repeals of war legislation, various welfare measures such as the maternity bill, and a flock of others of lesser importance.

The one measure on which definite action is certain is the long disputed bill for regulation of the packing industry. By unanimous consent the senate will vote on this on January 24.

Tedious night sessions are in prospect in the closing days of February unless both sides make more speed in the next four weeks than they have in the last four. Many of the pending measures are conducive of extended debate and extended debate does not make for speed. The house next week probably will take up the proposal to increase the membership of the house from 435 to 483, and this is certain to produce some warm political and sectional battles. Unless the leaders can choke it off, it will provide enough vocal fireworks to keep the house busy for days.

The reapportionment measure is based on the last census. The house census committee has reported a bill raising the membership quota to about 218,000. The committee is divided 8 for and 5 against the measure, and the vote seems fairly representative of the attitude of the whole house in the matter.

Representative George H. Tinkham, Republican, of Boston, supported by a number of other Republicans from New England and northern states, is prepared to oppose the bill on the ground that the south is not entitled to its present representation because of the inability of the negroes to vote. In some southern states, Tinkham's position is that representation should be based on qualified voting strength and not on population.

Speeches along this line will have the effect of turning a match to the oratorical magazine. Republican leaders of the house are reluctant to support any reapportionment measure which will increase the size of the house. They contend the house already is too unwieldy for efficient action.

MISS MORGAN LIKES THE FIGHTING GAME

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—It's all right and I'm crazy about it," Miss Ann Morgan, told Tex Rickard boxing impresario at Madison Square garden as she watched night weight champion Leonard pound Eno Mitchell, of Waukegan, into submission. Miss Morgan "promoted" the fight, the proceeds after the fighters were paid going to the fund for the relief of devastated parts of France. It was estimated today that more than $50,000 will go into the relief fund.

American Barbarians

WALTER WHITE in the New Republic gives some heretofore unpublished facts about the tragedy at Ocoee, Orange County, Florida, last election day. The story given out at the time was that two Negroes named Mose Norman and July Perry had tried to vote when they were not qualified, and on being refused had flourished revolvers; the lynching that followed was thus satisfactorily explained according to certain southern ideals on the subject.

But Mr. White found that the registration books showed that Mose Norman had qualified and registered and was entitled to vote. "He was unpopular with the whites because he was too prosperous—he owned an orange grove for which he had refused offers of $10,000 several times." July Perry "was foreman of a large orange grove owned by a northern white man. The community felt that the job he had belonged to a white man." So "a mob formed, went out and surrounded the colored settlement, applied kerosene, burned twenty houses, two churches, a schoolhouse, and a lodge house." Two members of the mob were killed. Perry was wounded and later lynched.

A white citizen of Ocoee boasted that fifty-six Negroes were killed. Among those burned to death were a mother and her two-week-old baby. An eleven-year-old white girl, questioned by Mr. White, "told exultingly of the fun we had when some niggers were burned up." The adults were somewhat more restrained—they had only "an air of meritorious work well done."

Such a picture does not require comment. Probably the same people of the south are just as sickened by it as the rest of us. But there it is. The white people who keep the Negro down by such methods are no more civilized than the governing classes of antiquity, whose quite similar methods appall the student of history. They may have automobiles and read the world's news the day after it happens, but underneath their modern clothes they are barbarians. They are not the whole south by any means, but they and their state of mind are just as much a problem to the rest of the United States as the Negro is to them.

Austria Becomes A Poorhouse

THE Austrian government, says a London Times despatch from Berlin, has announced its intention to retire Jan. 15 and place the country in the hands of the Reparations Commission. If this is true we are witnessing the end of an inevitable tragedy. Austria, ruined by the war more completely than any other nation, goes voluntarily into the hands of a receiver, having been bankrupt in credit, resources, and courage since 1917.

Her government may well be relieved at evading further responsibility, the what the Reparations Commission or the Allies can do with the remaining property is still a dubious question. There is a kind of poetic justice in this surrender. The Versailles treaty was the prime cause of Austria's collapse. The continued separation of Austria from Germany was decided upon as a punishment for Germany and as a protection against further aggression from Teutonic sources. The division has injured Germany little, but has contributed largely to Austria's misery.

Conditions in Austria are fairly well known. Events have been drawing toward a crisis in Vienna this winter, and a brief review of recent reports furnishes plenty of reasons why the cabinet should give up in despair. There is a national deficit exceeding 25,000,000,000 crowns; the country is buried in taxes and paper up to the eyes; the population is underfed to a degree that means torture for most and death for many; coal is almost unobtainable, and all other fuels have been exhausted; wages have shrunk until the majority of citizens subsist only by means of state relief, which has been issued at an expense of 12,000,000,000 crowns a year; visitors to Vienna report it to be a city of the dying, and the Reparations Commission itself, which went to Austria to enforce the indemnity terms of the treaty, was obliged to drop its plans and propose loans—not yet granted—to save the people from complete extinction.

American credits have kept Austria going so far. What else can be done for her at this stage by the Allies or the United States would be difficult to discover. Union with Germany or Bavaria would be of ultimate benefit, but of no immediate use. The Austrians seem no longer to evidence desire for such a union; the reason may be, however, that they have lost hope. There was never more excusable desperation.

New York Day-By-Day

By O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—This is the first time since the war that the papas and mamas pack them season when the delinquents have left for Palm Beach. Nowhere is society so snobbish as in New York. The ancestors of the reigning families used to carry parks, fish and half sole their breeches with leather, and yet they now bar any of the present generation who were lucky enough to have had ancestors in trade.

There are a story of one society faithful who not jerked into society through marriage. He knew he didn't belong. One night he was in his cups, and he saw a girl who was the daughter of a royal house. He knew she was of royal blood, but he was sure—but not that his ancestors were the kings and queens of that group of islands where people dress in flowers and feathers. And that's why I hate to leave her much alone with our society. The children, I'm afraid, shall be the same.

At late paid press agents who come the society editors for days in advance of the time a daughter is to be married. They would rather see the society columns of Cholly Knickerbocker or Dolly Madison than the society columns of the Hall of Fame. Cholly Knickerbocker writes for a morning newspaper and Dolly Madison for an evening paper. They know that they are one and the same person who has made the study of society his business.

Central Park—the haven of spooners—has been closed at 11 o'clock by the police in their futile efforts to suppress the crime wave. As a result there is no place left to spoon but the public streets and the darkened movie houses. Thousands of young girls in New York live in rooming houses where the only place than can receive their beaux is the public parlor and so they go out walking and drift into Central Park and fill the benches. Here they make love unashamed. I once counted more than thirty couples who were locked in fond embrace in a walk from a Fifth Avenue entrance to Seventy-Second Street.

Among my Christmas greetings came three telegrams, delivered by the same boy, from Mrs. M. N. Holson, Chic Sale and Joseph Urban and I cannot help but think what a wonderful combination those three would make for "the great American play." Nicholson's understanding of small town life with Chic Sale's marvelous ability to portray it and Urban to furnish the background should prove an unbeatable dramatic possibility. A man I regard as the most artistic producer in New York—a man who has not resorted to the abracadabra and electro-biology of his more successful competitors—once told me that in his opinion Chic Sale was the greatest actor since Joseph Jefferson. And yet he is only a headliner in vaudeville. But the trouble is, this producer said, no one has written a play equal to his talents.

Blue Pete, who was blinded by a powder explosion, has been selling newspapers on Broadway for years. He knows how the world is getting on just by the fragments of comment he hears from the crowds. "People are gloomy," said Pete the other day. And he added "They've had too much prosperity."

WALT MASON THE KNOWING ONE

If I had John H. Milton's harp, my brow in wreaths arrayed, I'd sing a ballad about the sharp who truly knows his trade, he it the boning of a carp, or filing of a spade. Nine workmen tried to fix my bus which had been broken, wrong, for days I saw them with it fuss, the while their bill grew long, and I could only weep and cuss, when scheduled for a song. They held an inquest on my cart, that was of little use, they took the motor apart, and pried the crankshaft loose, to find out why things wouldn't start when they applied the juice. And when their greasy toil was done, the heat was just the same; the what-you-wouldn't run, the thing-unbroke was lame, and it had taken all my mon to pay them for their game. They might have made good auctioneers, or coroners, or clerks, they might have won out horning steers, or preaching in the kirk; but they were no workmen, it appears, among a motor's works, and then came workman Number Ten, when those nine jays were gone; yea, one of nature's nobles, men came shipping up the lawn; he came to earn an honest yen, and did, so help me John. He was a man of pep and sense, a workman skilled was he, and in an hour he banished thence the grief that spoiled my glee, and my old car would jump a fence or climb a banyan tree.

NOTICE To Stockholders

The annual meeting of stockholders of The Tribune Company will be held at 1 o'clock, Wednesday, January 19, at the offices of McConnell & Karr, in The Tribune building, for the purpose of selecting a board of directors and for the transaction of such other business as may come before the stockholders.

THE TRIBUNE COMPANY

BOXING LEADERS OF MANY STATES FORM ASSOCIATION

Leading boxing promoters of sixteen states of the union, meeting in New York city, have formed the National Boxing association. The aim of the new body is to devise uniform rules and regulations for governing the sport in all sections of the country. Such uniform rules will work to the benefit of the fans, fighters and promoters. Other attempts have been made in this same direction, but the gathering which formed the new body and the organization in the new movement make it appear to be a permanent outfit. Those who formed the new body include such men as M. J. Hinkel, wealthy sportsman of Cleveland, and other men who are in the game more for the sport of it than the financial gain; which makes the organization look hopeful.

TWINS SUFFER ATTACK OF SYMPATHETIC APPENDICITIS

MAYNARD, Mass., Jan. 15.—Is appendicitis catching like scarlet fever or the whooping cough, or is the case which is now perplexing the learned doctors of this community one of psychological or "sympathetic" appendicitis?

When Robert Allen, aged 11, was taken down with appendicitis and went to the hospital for an operation his twin brother Richard, immediately began to get sick also, and a few days later also went to the hospital to have his appendix removed.

"The boys always were together in everything," said their father. "From the day of their birth when one was ailing the other soon developed the same trouble. We were not a bit surprised when Richard followed Robert to the hospital with the same illness."

Dr. McCarthy, who performed the operations on the twins, says it is the first time he ever heard of such a case, and the other doctors and nurses at the hospital are watching the pair's progress toward complete recovery, interested to see which of them will be the first to get well.

GAS WILL SMELL SO TERRIBLE NOBODY WILL COMMIT SUICIDE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Henceforth nobody but a hermit with a bad cold in the head will be able to commit suicide via the gas route, according to officials of the bureau of mines.

The bureau recently announced the perfection of a system of mixing chemicals with the illuminating gas in such a manner that leakage can be smelled "all over the house." Experiments have been successfully carried out with several different kinds of odors, including banana, wintergreen, and grain alcohol.

Two other concoctions result in odors described as "sumptuous" and "ancient eggs" are said to be mild in comparison. This odor, the experts believe, is sufficient to discourage any would-be suicide who is worth the saving.

The discovery is expected to make accidental asphyxiation impossible and will also go a long way toward preventing destruction of property by odors, including banana, wintergreen, and grain alcohol.

"If the crook is determined to open the safe, he'll do it, no matter how one tries to prevent it," explained Charles W. Hudler, head of the firm.

Hudler does not believe bad habits and yeggs will bother him, however, because he uses the safe to protect his books from possible fire. Very little money is placed in the safe.

"I don't think crooks are going to trouble us, but, if they do, I don't want that safe all jammed or blown to pieces," said Hudler.

traffic, large consumers would be forced to buy coal in West Virginia and that all mines would be closed in Ohio, as they were in 1914-15, the miners again be destitute as they were then, and the increased cost would be passed on the Ohio coal consumers.

"If the interstate commerce commission, by its order approves any such scheme of restoring differentials," said a statement issued by the utilities commission, "it must bear the responsibility."

"If this great wrong is to be perpetrated against the Ohio consuming public it must be done by other hands than ours."

WILD GEESE IN FLIGHT TEAR DOWN WIRES FROM POLES

PASCOAG, R. I., Jan. 15.—Never in the memory of the oldest citizen have wild geese performed such stunts as they did during the recent southeast gale.

Under the misguidance of an irresponsible leader the geese wrecked the telegraph and telephone lines in Mant-

The leader flew for a pond beside the railroad track. His followers landed against the wires with a force that swept telephone and telegraph wires from the cross-arms of the poles into contact with the high voltage electric light wires.

Confusion and a large quantity of broiled goose was the result. The contact of the telephone and telegraph wires with the lightning wires set all the telephone and telegraph instruments on the branch lines as-spattering.

MAIL POUCHES WITH VALUABLE CONTENTS STOLEN IN ILLINOIS

MT. VERNON, Ills., Jan. 15.—Fire mail pouches, one of which is said to have contained $50,000 were reported stolen from the railroad station here Friday. The contents of the other four packages have not yet been learned, but they are believed to have contained large amounts. All were filled with registered mail. The $50,000 in the one pouch is reported to have been for the payroll of a coal mine near Benton, in Franklin-co. Ills.

CHRONIC CATARRH

Follows Repeated Colds When Blood Is Impure.

Your body suffering from a cold does not properly attend to digestion and elimination. As a result your blood becomes impure, it inflames the mucous membrane and brings about that condition in which chronic catarrh occurs and on which it depends.

Purify your blood, make it clean, by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and if your bowels are not healthfully active, take Hood's Pills. These medicines have relieved and prevented thousands of cases of chronic catarrh. Economy is one of the strong points of Hood's Sarsaparilla—100 doses in a bottle. Why not get it today?

PERSHING ADVISES AGAINST AN ARMY LESS THAN 200,000

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Opposition to any reduction of the regular army below 200,000 was expressed by Gen. Pershing today before the senate military affairs committee meeting in executive session.

Secretary Baker who appeared with Pershing, informed the committee he believed the army should "certainly not be reduced below 175,000," as provided in the resolution of Senator New of Indiana, now before the senate.

BIG SWINDLE IN MARKS IS PROBED

BOSTON, Jan. 15.—A drive against a nation-wide swindle in German marks, in which millions of dollars have been taken from investors, a majority of them women, has been launched with the arrest of three men connected with the firm of Rothschilds-Campbell Co., Ltd., foreign exchange brokers, assistant attorney general Albert Hurwitz announced today.

Prosecution of this firm, which the police state, was engineered by a former striking Boston policeman, is but the beginning according to Hurwitz.

Investors in the swindle were duped by counterfeit marks. The offices of the "exchange brokers" were found to be closed when attempts were made to take up exchanges it was said.

MEAT CAUSE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys if Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidney in their effort to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach aches, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush out the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, to flush and neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.

FACTS ABOUT OPTOMETRY

By OTIS G. MORSE

Number Six of the Series.

The standard Optometrical examination is very rigid, and is prepared by the State Board of Examiners in Optometry. Several years of constant study are necessary as a preliminary to the practice of Optometry.

The work of an Optometrist comprises, but not exclusively, the detection of a given error of vision and its correction. But if the Optometrist discovers (as he often does) a condition requiring surgical or medical attention, he may advise accordingly.

Being relatively a new profession, Optometry is naturally not appreciated by the public as it deserves to be. It is estimated that in the United States many millions of people are constantly in need of the services of an Optometrist. That is, this large number of people are deficient visually in a manner that could be rectified by an Optometrist. They possess errors of vision that should receive attention, and in at least half of the cases the person is not aware of his deficiency.

That indicates the value of Optometry to the public, as we are speaking only of defects of vision that the Optometrist is competent to correct.

CHIROPRACTIC

From the Depths of Disease to the Top of Health. Read!

January 1st, 1921.

My Dear Doctor:—

It is simply impossible for me to express my gratitude to you for your wonderful method of getting folks well. It was all new to me and I called you as the drowning man grabs for the straw. I have wondered since if you can restore health after all other methods fail? What wonderful results you must have if called in the beginning of the sickness. After suffering three weeks with so-called muscular rheumatism, not able to turn my head, move my jaws, scarcely swallow, and unbearable pain in back. You have brought me out. I am feeling better than I have for years. Corrected chronic constipation. It gives me real pleasure to recommend your work to any one doubting the possibilities of Chiropractic.

"PANHANDLE" WILL BE ABSORBED BY THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILWAY COMPANY

PITTSBURG, Jan. 15.—Thru action of the stockholders on December 29, the famous old "Panhandle" railroad, it is expected, will be swallowed up by the Pennsylvania system at the close of the year.

The "Panhandle" (P. C. C. & St. L.) is one of the two great Pennsylvania lines between Pittsburgh and the west, the other being the Fort Wayne.

The Pennsylvania owns nearly all of the capital stock of the "Panhandle," amounting to $4,850,000. Its plan is to lease the "Panhandle" for a term of 99 years and make it an integral part of the Pennsylvania system. The project from motives of economy of operation will be advantageous to the "Panhandle" and to the community which it serves.

WIFE WILL RECOVER WITH TWELVE SHOTS PENETRATING FLESH

MUSKOGON, Mich., Jan. 15.—Irvin Morton, 25, early today entered his wife's bed room and announcing "I've killed the cat and you are next," fired twelve bullets into Mrs. Morton's body as she lay abed.

The thirteenth bullet he turned on himself, killing himself almost instantly. Still alive, Mrs. Morton crawled thru the snow to a neighbor's home where she told her story.

Mrs. Morton told physicians she pleaded for thirty minutes with her husband to spare her life but was answered with the shots.

Doctors attending her believe she will live.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Judge K. M. Landis was scored for his baseball affiliation, and some action by congress was demanded, by Thomas Sutherland, of 19 south LaSalle-st., Chicago, in a petition presented to Illinois congressmen today.

Sutherland asserts that in accepting the job of chief arbitrator of the big league's baseball organization, Judge Landis violated federal statutes and brot discredit on the judiciary.

SALESMAN LATEST MYSTERY IN CASE OF CLARA HAMON

ARDMORE, Okla., Jan. 15.—A traveling salesman of New York furnishes the latest mystery in the Hamon case. Efforts to learn his identity and his present whereabouts are now being made, it developed today, in the belief that he has facts to disclose which will make him the most important witness in the trial of Clara Smith Hamon when she faces a jury on the charge of killing Jake L. Hamon, millionaire oil king and Republican national committeeman of Oklahoma.

There were no eye witnesses to the shooting which resulted in Hamon's death. But in the hotel room adjoining that in which Hamon was shot, was a man who is supposed to have heard the quarrel which preceded the tragedy.

The man mysteriously disappeared after the shooting. The page of the hotel register who recorded his name is said to be missing. All that is known of him is that he registered from New York and is a traveling salesman. It is charged that the influential man who aided the accused woman in her flight to Mexico are responsible for his disappearance and for the removal of the page bearing his name from the hotel register.

Ostrich's Feelings Hurt.
The finest ostrich feathers are the forty or more white ones which come off the wings. The birds seem to feel very keenly the disgrace of having their feathers plucked. They go about hanging their heads and showing chagrin very plainly. A more bedraggled forlorn-looking creature than the freshly plucked ostrich does not exist.

IDEAL-Arcola

Heating Outfits for Small Homes

THE new IDEAL-Arcola Radiator-Boiler has revolutionized the heating of small homes. It heats the room in which it is placed and circulates hot water to American Radiators in the adjoining rooms.

Warms your home uniformly with less fuel than any other heating device.

Many an owner is using less coal to heat the entire home than was formerly required to heat one or two rooms. The cost of installation is moderate. Every family may now enjoy health-protecting Hot Water heat in the home, with or without a cellar. Put in at any time without disturbance.

Investigate IDEAL-Arcola Hot Water heating. See your dealer or visit our public show rooms in any of the large cities. A demonstrating outfit is exhibited.

GRAIN SPECULATORS ARE THE SALVATION OF NATION'S MARKET

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Grain speculators accused of being the cause of the grain market are in reality its salvation, according to Leslie P. Gates, former president of the Chicago board of trade, who appeared today before the house agricultural committee in opposition to the Capper-Tincher bill.

"The futures market provides a constant market in peace or war, in prosperity or panic where the producer may dispose of his holdings for prices based on world supply and demand," said Gates.

"Future trading reduces the distribution and prevents monopoly. A satisfactory future market where grain insurance might be obtained cannot be had without speculation. It is the speculative class who are the ready buyers and sellers and thus make a constant market," he argued.

OHIO FEDERATION OF WOMEN'S CLUBS

By Mrs. George Elliott McCormick, Director of Press

Americanization in Ohio.
Hundreds of thousands of men and women born in foreign countries live in Ohio today. Club women believe that many things they have brought with them are worth having. Clubwomen feel that they must help these foreign-born people to learn our language and give to them full opportunity for becoming American citizens.

The state Americanization committee has set aside $5,000 for help in teacher training. Teacher training institutes have already been established in various parts of the state where exists an urgent foreign problem. Mrs. Jacob Brenner, of Youngstown, chairman of the Americanization committee of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs, makes a strong appeal for every clubwoman to awaken to the call for good that the work of Americanization means. "I ask clubwomen of Ohio to interest themselves in Americanization work and to cooperate with the boards of education in their communities in forming classes for the foreign born," Mrs. Brenner says. "I want clubwomen to support a social worker that will go into the homes of these people who will show them how to maintain an American standard of living. We should help foreign-born women to keep pace with their American-born children by encouraging them to study and learn American ways."

Clubwomen can get valuable material and assistance in their general club work thru Mrs. Brenner whose address is Youngstown.

The condition of Mrs. Julius Fischer of Nelsonville, chairman of community service, who has been in Grant hospital, Columbus, since November 29, is somewhat improved, but it will be some time before she will be able to go home. She sprained her ankle last August. Complications developed and she has been taking treatments ever since.

Mrs. Edna Nesbitt de Prospero, soprano, and Miss Carrie Schenelrine, contralto, both of Wheeling, W. Va., assisted in the December program meeting of the Lecture-Recital club at Martins Ferry. Mrs. John Turner was hostess.

RAILROAD LINES IN FRANCE
ADOPTING AMERICAN SYSTEM

PARIS, Jan. 15. — The American railway train dispatching system has broken through the stone wall of French conservatism and is now being gradually installed on all the leading railway systems of the country. Studied by French railway experts on the various lines of the old A. E. F. its efficiency and simplicity has its appeal until today these French railroad men consider it the best operating system in the world. Its adoption has received the approval of M. Le Trocquer, French Minister of Public Works. The system is now in operation on the Etat railroad between the Montparnasse station, just a few blocks from the headquarters of the American Red Cross, and Chartres.

"The American system," explained M. Pie, the train dispatcher, or, as he is known here, "Monsieur Le Regulateur," was installed in June on the Paris-Chartres Division as the result of studies made of it during the war at the various American railroad centers in France. Our system was most complex and now we have been instructed by the Minister of Public Works to apply the American method to the entire system. Daily reports received during the past three months testifying to the efficiency of this dispatching system have led us to arrange to install it on the Paris-Nantes Division, the Chartres-La Mans section and others. The American method has numerous advantages. Schedules are more easily adhered to in the case of passenger trains, the prompt handling of freight is assured, while instructions given by telephone insure greater accuracy and consequent safety to passengers than those sent by telegraph.

Commenting on the American system the Minister of Public Works has said, "It is excellent because it is simple. It is interesting from both a technical and practical point of view. The results obtained have led me to order its installation on other lines."

Eaton's Ended
His Troubles

"Eaton's is the only thing I have found to stop my heartburn and I think it has been a great help in nervous spells," writes G. O. Johnson.

An upset stomach may cause lots of suffering all over the body. Eaton's helps in such cases by removing the cause of the misery, because it takes up and carries out the excess acid and gases and keeps the digestive organs in natural working order. A tablet after meals is all you need. Big box costs only a trifle with Eaton's guarantee.

WILL DEL PRATT PLAY WITH BOSTON?

Del Pratt.

Boston Red Sox fans are crying "stung." They say that the Yankee bump one on the Sox owner when the Gotham club swapped Del Pratt for Thormahlen, Muddy Ruel and Sam Vick for Wally Schang, Wally Piatek, Harry Harper and Mike McNally. They say that Miller was aware that Del Pratt had decided to retire when he allowed him to be made and that Pratt, star second baseman and the most valuable time ago he intended to quit the game. Whether or not that way isn't known.

6th St. Theatre

HERBERT'S GREATER MINSTRELS

The largest real negro minstrel company ever organized will be the attraction at the Sixth Street theater Friday, January 21. With the appearance of this company, the patrons of this popular playhouse will have a chance to see 40 premieres of genuine negro minstrelsy, in a performance so out of the ordinary as to be a character, that it will be a novelty to the amusement loving public.

In all probability no production ever staged in minstrelsy, can boast of possessing more novel features, unsurpassed surprises, amusement of talent, music, melody, scenic investiture, dancing, soloists, and costume array, than this particular offering. Forty celebrities of genuine negro minstrelsy, bringing to the fore the irresistible joys of the sunny south in the original, in one huge evening of unalloyed pleasure and laughter.

It is time to give your brain a rest, forget your troubles for a few hours, go where you can get a good laugh, and you will feel better for having seen there. At seven on the principal streets will be given a parade, and with it will be the Great Adams. It's a treat so don't miss it. See Adams.

CROWN FORCES ARE CHARGED WITH THE BURNING OF CORK

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Daniel O'Callaghan, lord mayor of Cork today charged "the British crown forces" with responsibility for the burning of Cork, in testimony before the American committee investigating conditions in Ireland.

O'Callaghan recited to the committee statements of citizens of Cork who declared they had seen police acting as incendiaries.

Evidence before the British labor commission which investigated the fire was also presented by O'Callaghan.

DYNAMITE SAVES A TOWN FROM BLAZE

CLEARFIELD, Pa., Jan. 15.—Three persons were injured and damage estimated at $250,000 was caused by fire believed to be of incendiary origin today, when 15 buildings including a hotel, theatre, five stores, two business blocks, and several residences were destroyed. Dynamite was used to check the flames as they swept toward the postoffice and several buildings and residences beyond. Two of the injured persons were firemen, the third was a bystander hit by flying debris from a dynamited building. Fire companies from four nearby towns helped save the town.

JEALOUSY INSPIRED MURDER OF PARTNER

CINCINNATI, Jan. 15.—Jealousy was the sole motive that caused Jas. B. Murray, formerly of Magnolia, Buchanan, Iowa, to shoot and kill Howard Phillips, business partner of Murray in New York, Ky., several months ago when Phillips was emerging from a boarding house in company with Mrs. Murray, who had separated from her husband, claiming he had neglected her and their child.

The state of Kentucky today made the above claim during the trial of Murray for his life.

Murray gave testimony yesterday that the killing occurred while he was under stress of momentary insanity and that he was seeking a reconciliation with Mrs. Murray, whom he met in the company of Phillips.

Syrians Clash

LONDON, Jan. 15.—Fifteen hundred Druse tribesmen have been killed in violent fighting with the Bedawi tribesmen in Syria, according to an unconfirmed dispatch reaching Cairo, said a Central News dispatch today.

The Wheat Man's Burden

Wheat—Take him off and I can carry the rest.

(National Crop Improvement Service)

BLACK RUST on spring wheat costs a two hundred million dollars a year. When black, the spore is in its winter stage. The winter spores cannot germinate at once, but lie dormant on stubble, or straw, until spring. Then they germinate, but they cannot directly infect grains or grasses. This black stage of the rust can infect only the common barberry (and one or two closely related shrubs which are not native).

Destroy the common barberry and the black stage of the rust becomes harmless. It cannot infect wheat. Get this clearly in your mind. Without the barberry the black rust cannot live. With the barberry it gets an early start in the spring. It cannot maintain itself in the northern states in the red stage during the winter and the red stage is impossible unless it passes the cup stage on the barberry.

Therefore we must find all the barberry first in the spring wheat states and next in all of the other states from which spores can come by wind or from grass to grass until grain is reached.

This will require an appropriation of at least five hundred thousand dollars a year, which is little enough when we consider that we are thereby saving two hundred millions.

ALLIES ARE ASKED FOR HELP AS REDS
MOBILIZE TROOPS

LONDON, Jan. 15.—Alarmed over the concentration of Russian Red troops on their frontiers, Estonia and Lithuania have appealed to the allies for help. It was learned from an authoritative source this afternoon.

The Estonian and Lithuanian governments sent a detailed account of Russian military activities. Officials of the foreign office declare that this document, along with the reports of British agents convinced them there is cause for real alarm over the situation in the Baltic region.

The Daily Herald, organ of the British Labor party, prints a statement made by Leonid Krassin, the Bolshevik trade commissioner before his departure denying that Russia is massing troops to menace Lithuania or Estonia. It is understood however, that Krassin carried to Moscow with him an urgent demand from a member of the British cabinet for Moscow to explain the Russian military movements.

COMMUNISTS SEEK PLACES OF VANTAGE TO SPREAD GOSPEL

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 15.—Members of the Communist party are urged by leaders to secure positions in the postal service as carriers and sorters and also with express companies in any capacity possible for the purpose of spreading their propaganda, according to the postal bulletin received here today. Postmasters throughout the country are requested by the department of justice which claims knowledge of the "Red" program to be on the outlook for propagandists of lawlessness and disorder.

HICKORY CLUB IS JURIST'S WEAPON
FOR FREELOVER

AKRON, Jan. 15.—"A hickory club, wielded by a strong right arm is the best means of dealing with the man who invades another's home and robs him of his wife's affections."

This was the opinion handed down today by Judge H. C. Spicer, of domestic relations court, after he had listened for an hour to the recital of how Thomas Korneluk sought to drive by law and gun route John Novik from his own home.

Novik said Korneluk had him arrested for beating Novik's wife and that a justice in the southern part of the county sent him to the workhouse for six months. He was released in nine days and came home, only to be ordered out of his own place on threats of being shot to death.

Novik told the court Korneluk informed him that hereafter Mrs. Novik is to be his wife.

"You go home and get a hickory club and drive him away," was Judge Spicer's parting advice to Novik.

Reds Are Active

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—American business men are leaving Sanson in Asia minor as a result of Bolshevik influences according to reports to the state department today.

Reports indicate a campaign is being carried on in Turkey and the Near East by Bolsheviks, according to the state department.

WOMEN! DRY CLEAN THINGS AT HOME

Try it! For a few cents you can dry clean everything.

Save five to ten dollars quickly by dry cleaning everything in the home with gasoline that would be ruined by soap and water—suits, coats, waists, silks, laces, gloves, shoes, furs, draperies, rugs—everything!

Place a gallon or more of gasoline in a dishpan or washboiler, then put in the things to be dry cleaned, then wash them with Solvite soap. Shortly everything comes out looking like new. Nothing fades, shrinks, or wrinkles. Do not attempt to dry clean without Solvite soap. This gasoline soap is the secret of all dry cleaning.

A package of Solvite soap containing directions for home dry cleaning, costs little at any dry goods or dry clean outdoors or away from home.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—The temporary tariff bill, passed by the house, was ordered amended today by the senate finance committee.

An amendment by Senator McCumber, Republican, of North Dakota, increasing the tariff on wheat from 20 to 40 cents a bushel was ordered favorably reported.

Restoration of the Dingley tariff on hides and the Payne-Aldrich tariff on butter and dairy products, was also ordered favorably reported.

RAILWAY COMPANY TO SUE GOVERNMENT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—The Southern Railway Co., which has declined the benefits of the guaranty fund established by congress to insure railroads against loss during the period of transition from government control to private ownership will bring suit for $84,000,000 for services rendered the government during the war, Thomas Dewitt Cuyler, chairman of the railway executive committee informed the house interstate and foreign commerce committee today.

ACTORS THREATEN ANOTHER STRIKE

Another strike of actors and actresses, members of the Actors' Equity Association, loomed on the offing today as the Producing Managers' Association met to hear charges that have been made against Lee and J. J. Shubert, who control about 75 per cent of the theaters throughout the country.

The actors' association has demanded the expulsion of the Shuberts from the Producing Managers' Association with which the association has a five year contract, on the ground that the Shuberts have violated the terms of the peace agreement that settled the actors' strike a year ago and that they persistently discriminate against

Strive To Have Healthy Skin

Next time you are in a gathering of women note the different conditions apparent in complexion. You will see some filled with blackheads, some dry and rough, some smooth and greasy, some smeared with rouge, some streaked with heavy metallic powders and once in a while you will see one that is a demonstration of intelligence from every point of view. The color is rosy, the skin is clear and smooth, the pores are small and open, the powder does not show on the firm vigorous skin. Every woman can have a good complexion if she will only use a little discretion. If you would acquire real beauty, the beauty of perfect health, you must replenish your worn-out nerves with lecithin. Nature's own nerve restorer, and put into your blood the invigorating iron which Nature intended it to have for health. In most of the modern foods these and other vitalizing elements have been largely eliminated. Yet to be healthy and beautiful the system must have them. They are found in Bio-feren, not only in proper proportions to restore weakened vitality but in such form as the system can best assimilate them.

A treatment of lecithin and iron peptonate as combined in Bio-feren increases the appetite, adds nutrition and invigorates the patient.

And Bio-feren in its pellet form is easy and palatable to take—no liquid from discoloration of the teeth, no unpleasant taste.

There is no secret or mystery about Bio-feren. Doctors prescribe it regularly because they know exactly what it contains as well as what it will do and they know they could not formulate a better up-building tonic.

The action of Bio-feren on the system is so beneficial, we are so sure of its giving you positive health and vigor, providing, of course, there is no serious, chronic ailment such as cancer, tuberculosis, etc., that we only sell it on the condition that you agree to return the empty package and accept a refund of your money unless you are entirely satisfied.

There is no use waiting for health and beauty. It is better to do things today than tomorrow. Go to your physician today—right now—he will advise Bio-feren. Then start taking it at once as he advises or as directions on the package call for. The guarantee protects your money. Interesting booklet may be had for the asking.

Large package $1.00 at all leading druggists or direct if your druggist can not supply you. The Sentinel Remedies Co., Inc., Cincinnati, Ohio.

America Means Life to These Hungry Children of Far PolandBread lines are still a tragic necessity in Poland. In fact more than 3,500,000 children are ill or hungry in Eastern and Central Europe. This photograph shows a line of war orphans in Poland waiting for their only meal of the day at an American relief station. These stations will have to be discontinued unless the European Relief Council is able to raise $33,000,000 to feed and care for these youngsters until the next harvest in September. The cooperating agencies forming the Council are the American Relief Administration, the American Red Cross, the American Friends' Service Committee (Quakers), the Jewish Joint Distribution Committee, the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, the Knights of Columbus, the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W.
C. A. Unless the call is heeded immediately the Council will be unable to feed these innocent youngsters. Contributions are being received by your local committee or Franklin K. Lane, treasurer of the Council, who has offices at 42 Broadway, New York City. Herbert Hoover is chairman of the Council.GERMANY PAYS IMMENSE SUM
TO MAINTAIN AMERICAN ARMY
OF OCCUPATION IN FATHERLANDLONDON, Jan. 15.—It is costing the German government 600,000,000 marks per month to maintain the members of the American Army of Occupation in the Fatherland.This is the estimate made by Herr Havarstein, president of the Reichsbank. He states that today Germany's floating debt is 147,000,000,000 marks, and that it would be increased to 30,000,000,000 more at the end of the year.Of all the allied armies America's marks a month to support the British army of occupation and between four and five billion for the French and Belgian.To meet some of these expenses the Reichsbank has proposed a forced loan of 20,000,000,000 marks.Herr Havarstein declared that owing to the great difference in the exchange rates and to the enhanced cost of production in Germany German goods in the foreign markets were only fetch-

CONGRESS FROM 435 TO 483WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—The membership of the house of representatives would be increased to 483 under a bill to be reported by Chairman Siegel of the census committee to fix the reapportionment for the next ten years under the 1920 census. The bill would mean an increase of 48 over the present membership of 435. No state would lose any representation.At the same time, Representative Siegel will introduce a constitutional amendment to limit the size of future houses to 500 members.Adoption of the reapportionment measure would result in an increase in the total vote of the electoral college to 579, making 296 necessary for the election of a president and vice president of the United States. The present vote is 531, making 266 necessary for a choice.California would make the largest gain of new members, five under the bill, bringing her total to 16. Michigan, New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania would gain four each. Illinois and Texas, three; Massachusetts, New Jersey and North Carolina, two each.
Alabama, Arkansas, Connecticut,
Georgia, Maryland, Minnesota,
New Mexico, Oklahoma, Oregon, S.
Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia and Wisconsin would gain one each.No action was taken by the committee on the demand of Representative Tinkham, Republican, Massachusetts, for the application of the 14th amendment and reduction of representation to those states in which occur alleged disfranchisement, on account of suffrage qualifications, principally literacy test and poll tax requirements.The basis of representation is fixed in the constitution bill at one member for each 25,000 inhabitants as compared to 211,333 as at present.

Stabilizing the Market

[National Crop Improvement Service]

UNDER certain circumstances it would seem wise that farmers store their grain for a better price, but when it is considered that if they take it to the elevator they will have to pay storage, it is always a question whether or not it will pay.George H. Johnston, a banker of Wales, N. D., investigated this matter of November and December wheat storage by taking the average monthly price of cash wheat in Chicago for a ten-year period, 1901 to 1910.He found that the average price in the six months July-December was 92.4
and for the next six months, January-June, 92.5.He also showed that the American farmers market 78 per cent of their wheat in the six months period July-December, and 22 per cent in the remaining six months. North Dakota growers market 75 per cent in the period July-December and 25 per cent in the remaining months."These tables," says Mr. Johnston, "show that for the years 1901-1910 the farmer who held his wheat until the six months period January-June received only 1.1 cents per bushel more than the farmer who sold shortly after harvest. This 1.1 cents would not come anywhere near paying interest on money, shrinkage in storage and insurance."In the past twenty years the North Dakota farmer who marketed his wheat in November-December made more money than the one who held his wheat until spring.The sale of futures against wheat generally anticipates all storage, interest and carrying charges and those who tell the farmer that the speculator buy wheat when it is cheap in the fall and hold it for a rise and sell when it is expensive are very much mistaken.
Speculation anticipates all of these things so that the price instead of always being higher is often much lower, as in the present instance.Grain traders are divided into two almost equal bodies who watch each other like hawks. When the farmers' organizations learn to use this great troubling machinery many of their troubles will prove but imaginary.

LEONARD FURNISHES
THRILLS IN SAVING
LIGHTWEIGHT TITLEFloors Richie Mitchell Six Times In Two Rounds,
Winning In Sixth

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Benny Leonard is still monarch of all he surveys. The little lightweight champion of the world stands today in a class very much by himself and he has demonstrated ability, strength and speed at 134 pounds that should cause apprehension among the army of would-be champions who have been howling on his trail.

By knocking out Richie Mitchell in six rounds at Madison Square Garden he disposed of one of his most capable rivals, and he did it in a manner that left no doubt about his class.

Leonard's victory was the result of his prolific right hand and the coolest head that has set upon the shoulders of a lightweight champion in the history of the division. He started Mitchell on the road to defeat in the first minute of the first round with a terrific right hand to the jaw that flattened the Milwaukee boy for the count of nine. From that time on the westerner fought in a dazed condition but fought the gamut and most sensationally at battle that New York has ever witnessed.

Before the first round ended and after flooring Mitchell three times, Leonard himself was felled by a hard left hook to the chin that sent him down for the count of nine. That punched carried so much force that it knocked Leonard cross-eyed. For three or four seconds he did not know what had happened.

Then his quick brain cleared and he took the count of nine. His head work during the remainder of the round prevented Mitchell from following up the temporary advantage he had gained and paved the road to victory.

Leonard has not only demonstrated that he is still the possessor of a knockout wallop but he ranks among the cleverest boxers and greatest ring generals the lightweight division has known. He proved to some who may have doubted his ruggedness that he can take a terrific punch on the jaw and come back for more.

The punch Mitchell landed on the champion's chin was hard enough to have sent the average lightweight to dreamland and during the battle Richie missed enough right hands to have won several lightweight titles. Richie's punches had the snuff in them but he did not have Leonard's range, all of which indicates that Leonard is a wizard in taking care of himself.

Leonard blames carelessness for the fact that Mitchell floored him and in the same breath admits that the punch was the hardest he has ever stopped.

In the wake of his victory Leonard made the announcement that he would defend his title just as often as his promoters can find suitable opponents.

"They can find me," Leonard said. "I am ready for them. Tomorrow is the only lightweight of distinguished class whom I have not met, but I have been no lack of hope. I am ready."

Tommy

By MOLLIE MATHER

(C. 1920, Western Newspaper Union.)

When Dean Wallace agreed to visit at his brother's home in the little town of Wolford it was with the understanding that Nellie should have no girls about for him to play the cavalier to.

His sister-in-law was a born match-maker, and Dean had been subjected to her intrigues before.

It was not conceit upon his part which made him wary, though there was no denying Dean's charm where women were concerned.

It was just that the successful young business man, absorbed in work, refused unsettling complications. But when Nellie in her own pretty room read her brother-in-law's letter, she pursed her lips and turned to a dark-eyed girl seated near.

"Our handsome bachelor Dean accepts our hospitality," she said, "upon condition that no annoying female crosses his path."

"Well, I'll write him frankly that you are here and that he can't come."

"You will do nothing of the sort," retorted the dark-eyed person.

"But, dearie," Nellie objected, "you came to stay a month with me, and now—"

"Now," replied the young person firmly, "I shall go down the street to Wolford town, until the week or ten days of our delightful brother's visit is at an end—then I'll come back."

So, Dean arriving one beautiful fall evening, found a solicitous brother and sister-in-law only for company.

As he started with pipe and book for the glories of the ravine next morning, Nellie, from the doorway, ventured a request.

"If you should meet Tommy in the woods," she said, "do be nice—won't you, Dean?"

Laughingly Dean shook his head.

"Can't be bothered with boys," he replied.

When he had opened the book and lighted his pipe beneath the shade of a golden tree, the man stretched luxuriantly upon his bed of dry leaves, then through the pipe smoke he saw a second figure luxuriating close by, a small, red-capped figure who arose angrily at his approach and glared at him as she shook the brown leaves from her still browner hair.

"Well," the girl exclaimed, her tone showed exasperation, "I suppose I'm to move away from here, too. Is this all part of the king's domain?"

"I am sure," said Dean, confusedly, "that I do not know what you mean."

The girl faced him.

"You are Mr. Dean Wallace, aren't you?" she said dryly. "I had to cut short my visit at your brother's home and go down to the Inn just because you happen to dislike having young women about. Now that you choose to select my favorite reading spot for yours, I suppose I must leave that, too."

Dean regarded the indignant, flushed face with a smile, the whole situation was interesting.

"Well," he remarked calmly, "there are other pretty spots; I located one on my way down, could hardly choose between; you might go there. I would be glad to direct you."

The girl drew a long breath.

"Thanks," she sarcastically replied, but Dean preferred to take the remark in good faith, and courteously arose to lead the way.

After a moment's hesitation the girl followed. When they came to a spot beside the stream, the girl disposed of her guide with a curt nod of dismissal.

"This will do very well," she said.

"Might I," asked the man, with becoming humility, "learn your name?"

"Thomazine Reynolds," the girl answered briskly. "The Thomazine affliction, bestowed to please a great-aunt; I have shortened it to Tommy."

Dean smiled joyfully.

"If you are the Tommy that Nellie asked me to be nice to," he said, "I am willing to begin."

"Consequently Tommy ignored the olive branch of peace."

Some three weeks later Mrs. Jack Wallace spoke seriously to her brother-in-law sitting near.

"Hear," she said, "we are greatly glad to have you prolong your visit, but a friend of mine has been stopping over at the Inn, because of your request to me to have no young women about; I must not keep her there longer, although she does seem strangely content and happy. Tommy is a dear girl."

"Nellie," said the brother-in-law, emotionlessly, "I am smiling a little, full stop."

"I thought you knew," Dean said, "I am Tommy, and I am going to be married."

"Mackerel Peculiarity."

What a mackerel! said Dean, in a very low voice, and never called it a mackerel again. The mackerel was the name of all members of the Society. They had been so named because they failed to swim. It is known as the mackerel mystery. For Tommy, after years of being an equalizer, was now a mackerel. When first they were in their glass tank they passed in trying to swim through the glass, to their previous bodily harm. Presently an island was set up in the middle of the tank. As the mackerels swam around it, they were not mackerels any more. And for 24 years and more the mackerels have been swimming steadily round that island by day and by night, in season and out of season, and never once have they been observed to swim from right to left.

Hunger of Starving European Children

Hundreds of undernourished Polish children have had their suffering lessened at this child-feeding station maintained near Vilna by the European Relief Council, the amalgamation recently formed by the eight leading American relief agencies under the chairmanship of Herbert Hoover to promote efficiency and economy in ministering to the little sufferers of the war-ravaged sections. The underground stove shown in the photograph was especially constructed after it had been found that adequate facilities for cooking the relief supplies could not be provided otherwise in the town.

Hundreds of similar stations in the stricken areas will be maintained by the Council until the next harvest, and it is through their operation that more than 3,500,000 starving children will be enabled to survive the winter.

The Council, which maintains headquarters at 42 Broadway, New York City, has inaugurated a national collecting to secure $33,000,000 to carry out its project of child salvage. The money so raised is to be used in the actual purchase of supplies, for transportation, the labor necessary to the maintenance of the stations and other administrative expenses are provided through the cooperation of the governments of the countries in which the relief will be administered.

EDWARD TAYLOR DIES
SATURDAY MORNING
AT HOME, WATER-ST

Death resulting from a paralytic stroke claimed Edward Taylor, 74, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. James Wilson, 122 South Water-st., Saturday morning at 1:30 o'clock.

Mr. Taylor was stricken at a rooming house on Chestnut-st., where he had been staying this winter. He was stricken last Wednesday night in his room there and it was Thursday morning before he was found, lying unconscious on the floor, by a fellow workman.

It was that that the exposure was a contributing cause of his death.

Mr. Taylor was born in Muskingum, Ohio. He lived in Zanesville in his early boyhood. Later he moved to Coshocton where he had since made his home.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. James Wilson, Water-st. and Mrs. Charles Markham of Columbus. His son, William Taylor, of Coshocton, survives.

Mr. Taylor's wife died last April. No funeral arrangements had been completed Saturday afternoon.

Shortward Long in Use.

From references made to skilled writers in ancient literature, the inference is drawn that shortward was known long before the Christian era. The first authentic knowledge of the art dates to the first century before Christ. The pioneer of Roman short-hand was Marcus Fulvius Tiro, secretary and librarian to Cicero, who devised a system which was little more than a list of abbreviations. Later it was improved to such an extent that reporters of the time could keep pace with the speakers by writing in reprints. The system of the Latins fell into disuse between the Fifth and Ninth centuries, and modern stenography dates from 1588.

DAUGHTER OF DAKOTA SENATOR TO WED

Miss Emily Johnson

Miss Emily Johnson, daughter of Senator and Mrs. Edwin S. Johnson of South Dakota, whose engagement to Alfred P. Oxtoby of Wheeling, W. Va., was recently announced, has set February 2nd as her wedding date. The marriage will take place at noon at the Willard Hotel, Washington, D. C. Miss Johnson is known as one of the most popular girls in congressional circles.

Nothing to Wear

She is just as femininely fond of looking pretty, and "dolling up" as any other little girl. But she was unlucky enough to be born in Eastern Europe, where the possession of one warm whole garment is looked upon as luxury, so in all her short life she has never been decently clothed. But even clothes are not the most vital thing in her life. Food comes first. And with 3,500,000 other little ones just like herself, in Eastern and Central Europe, she has found that even a very little girl really MUST have one meal of nourishing food a day if she is going to keep on living.

She can not keep on living unless America sends that one nourishing meal a day. To feed them all will take $33,000,000. It must be contributed at once by the American people or it will be too late.

The European Relief Council, through which America's eight leading welfare organizations is functioning, is speeding every effort to raise this amount for food and medical service.

Contributions should be made through local committees or sent to Franklin K. Lane, treasurer, European Relief Council, 42 Broadway, New York City.

"Sir,"

Like Doctor Johnson, Mr. Hazlett addressed everybody as "Sir." The youngest and most intimate of his friends was not exempt from this rule, unless Mr. Hazlett happened to be in an unusually happy and cordial humor. Mr. C. H. Reynolds's sons, whom he knew as well as his own child, were almost invariably saluted in what would now appear a ludicrously formal manner; but indeed this mode of address had not gone out of fashion so entirely as it has in our day.—R. H. Stoddard.

A Brief Triumph

The most embarrassing moment of my life happened during my college days, writes a correspondent. We were all sitting at the dinner table of the college boarding house, each trying to outdo the other in intellectual remarks. I had just finished what I considered a particularly bright comment. I lifted a cup of coffee to my lips with an air of triumph, when suddenly the chair I was sitting on collapsed and I sank to the floor, allowing the cup of steaming coffee to pour all over my face and clothes.

IMPERSONATOR AT WARSAW JANUARY
21 FOR PROGRAM

Sixty times in Boston and suburbs and more than 200 times in New York City and vicinity, is the record of Charles R. Taggart, the impersonator who is to appear January 21, 1921 on the Warsaw lecture course. Taggart is otherwise known as "The Man From Vermont." His program includes descriptive piano selections, songs, recitations, character sketches, verbiage dialogues and violin mimicry.

In recent years Taggart has made a series of records for the Victor Company, and he is known to many local people as "The Country Fiddler." Strickland Gillilan, the humorist, says of Taggart: "His music is real music, his impersonations are miraculously faithful, his mimicry is photographic, his program blending is perfect."

CHARLEY WHITE IS
BESTED IN FIASCO

KENOSHA, Mich., Jan. 15.—Charlie White stood that on his feet for 10 minutes in his bout with Sailor Solly Friedman here last night waiting for Friedman to walk up and be knocked out. Friedman stayed away from him and with the fight just one minute short of the fifth round, Walter Houlahan stopped the fiasco.

There is doubt today as to whether Houlahan intended to award the verdict to Friedman or whether his action merely declared the bout "no contest." Payment of wages is held up for an official announcement on this point.

Up to the time the fight was stopped Friedman had the better of White.

One of Millions

This little victim of the war's aftermath in Central Europe had fallen into the clutches of the epidemic diseases, produced by undernourishment before American relief reached the section in which there were thousands of similar cases.

The only thing that stands between 3,500,000 children in the stricken sections and a similar fate this winter is the relief project of the European Relief Council, an amalgamation of the eight leading American welfare agencies recently formed by Herbert Hoover to promote economy in ministering to the little sufferers with food and medical aid. A national collection to secure $33,000,000 to distribute relief is now under way. The Council's headquarters is at 42 Broadway, New York, and Franklin K. Lane is treasurer.

SECY. OF TREAS.
EXPLAINS THE BIG SLUMP IN LIBERTY BONDS

"Free Spenders" Who Bot Bonds During the War Were Quick to Dispose of Them, Forcing Decline In Prices

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Most of the buyers of Liberty Bonds were patriots and "free spenders." As distinguished from so-called investors, "free spenders" bought up the bonds and used them later as so much spending money. The patriotic element who have thus parted with their securities have seen them go into hands of investors who have secured a big "bargain" in the predicted rise.

Secretary of the Treasury David F. Houston gave this view today, discussing Liberty Bond depreciation and the reasons for the slump in the value of the various issues.

"People generally have been spending money freely and saving too little," said Houston. "There has not been sufficient capital accumulated to overcome the pressure upon the market from those who have bought bonds as patriots, but not as investors."

Secretary Houston explained that Liberty bonds like other bonds, are subject to market influences, including the law of supply and demand.

"Liberty Bond quotations have declined because the great post-war public failed to save in proportion to the enormous expenditures of capital during and since the war."

"Many patriotic people bought bonds under the impulse of patriotism. Since the war was over they have been unwilling to continue to lend money to the Government, and have forced their holdings on the market more rapidly than others could save funds to invest, with consequent depreciation in market prices. The Treasury is firm in the opinion that holders of Liberty Bonds who do not part with their bonds will not have occasion to regret it, and will not suffer by reason of present depreciation. There are indications of a steady rise in the near future."

THE NAVY'S
KIPLING STORY

(New York World)

Why should the United States Senate, fairly well provided with duties, concern itself with investigating the balloon flight to Moose Factory? The Navy Department will attend to that as a routine detail, including the loss of the balloon and the flight in William's house in Matlice—which wasn't much of a scrap compared with more famous fistic encounters in the Senate.

Of course there must be an inquiry. When three naval officers start off in midwinter for Baffin Bay or the Klondike or somewhere else in a balloon, with a commissariat of eight sandwiches and a thermos bottle of coffee, and a railroad folder by way of chart, and leave some thousands of dollars' worth of government property spiked on a sub-Arctic spruce in Canada, a few questions are appropriate.

But Congress should not mistake the nature of this tragedy that just missed fire and turned out a comedy. It is not a Government Printing Office Blue Book in seventeen fat volumes. It is a Kipling story, including even, and especially, the final outbreak of nerves overstrained by hardships and dangers, and enforced companionship in close quarters, and inflamed theories of the literary opportunities presented by the exploit.

Not very discreet, not overburdened with foresight or delicate of deportment, are the Lieutenants who have returned with their lucky lives from a harebrained adventure. But the navies of the world have been built and its fleets fought, its seas tamed and its wastes explored, by men not chiefly noted for discretion.
